

ALEXANDRIA.

THURSDAY EVENING, JULY 18.

POSTMASTRE GENERAL WANAMAKEE SAYS that a negro applicant for the postoffice at Newberg, S. C., "grossly misrepresented matters to him," but, that notwithstanding though its formal decision would not be though its formal decision would not be awarded until to night, he supposed it might be stated that it would be in favor of the General. Congressman Bowden, who was subsequently seen, said the commmittee had agreed to endorse Gen. Mahone and would approve his call for a State convention of the rough. all that he had determined "to be lenient with him, and had recommended him to the man that was appointed postmaster there for his deputy." The mere statement of this fact shows the character of the man to whom the control of all the postal affairs of the country have been entrusted. He advised a southern postmaster to make a negro, whom he, Wanamaker, by personal knowledge, knew to be utterly unreliable, his assistant and therefore acting postmaster in his absence! Of course Mr. Wanamaker would not recommend to the manager of his lican committee they, of course, would have to abide the committee's decision. The Ma-honeites here are in the best of spirits, and shop in Philadelphia the employment of any negro, no matter how reliable he might be, nor does any sane man believe he would recommend to him for employment a white man whom he knew to be unreliable. Mr. Wanamaker does not believe that public business requires the safeguards that usually protect that which is private. On the contrary, he believes that "a public office is a private enap." And of such are the members of Mr. Harrison's cabinet.

THE DEMOCRATS of this city will meet in their several respective wards to-morrow night to elect delegates to their State convention to assemble at Richmond on the 14th proximo. Heretofore, on similar occasions, it has been usual to pay little or no atten tion to the selection of such delegates, and to elect any who asked to be elected or who would consent to accept an election. For the reputation of the city democracy, it is hoped that it may be different to morrow night, and that the delegates then to be elected will not only have well matured ideas on the subjects that may come before the convention, but will be able to maintain those ideas, if combatted. It is also hoped that the delegates who may be elected will be correct representatives of the Alexandria democracy, which, so far as State matters are concerned, is in favor of a fair and honorable settlement of the State debt. and which, on national questions, is in accord with the national democracy, and therefore in favor of a reduction in the tax on raw material and the necessaries of life, and of continuing that on whisky and other luxuries, those who are rich enough to use which being rich enough to pay the tax on them.

THE RECENT intelligence from New York to the effect that Mr. Cleveland has been shelved by the democrate of that State and that his political course has been run, is now supplemented by the statement that ex-Secretary Whitney is the coming man. If the national democracy be wise it will, at its next convocation, select for its candidate for the most astute, always speaking of the President a western man, with one from the leading men most familiarly, and calling South for Vice President. It has had bad them by their sur-names. In the departluck with its many defeated New York candidates, and worse with its successful one. A dates, and worse with its successful one. A with brilliant stude, and with huge seal change in the modern custom of taking its rings adorning their fingers, they stalk Presidential candidates from New York could not be for the worse, and might be for the better.

A NEW department was created by the last Congress. It is now proposed that the next shall create an additional one. The proposed one will take charge of all government work on buildings, rivers and harbors, irrigation, and, in addition, of such work as is now done by the coast survey, geological survey, signal service, hydrographic office and bureau of navigation. There are entirely too many departments. The governmental reform that is desired is that the work of the existing departments be done properly, not that more departments and more offices be created.

THE OWNERS of the Patterson cotton mill at Chester, Ps., have determined to move their plant to South Carolina, in order to reap the benefits of the superior facilities for manufacturing cotton goods possessed by the South. If it were not for the tariff, which enables northern cotton makers to conduct a profitable business even though handicar ped as they are by the natural disadvantages of location, all of them would move South, and this soon become the great cotton, as it is rapidly becoming the great iron, manufacturing section of the country.

THE NEW YORK Herald says; "The reason there is a greater per centage of people in prison now than formerly is because the law is enforced better now than it used to be." Southern prisons are now crowded with negro criminals, though they formerly contained few or none, for the reason, not that the law is better enforced now than it used to be, but because the whipping post has been abolished. The whipping post, as demonstrated by experience, is the most effective of all criminal deterrents.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 18, 1889. Gen. Groner, of Norfolk, Col. Brady of Petersburg, and Mr. Lewis McKenzie, of Alexandria, yesterday appeared before Sen-tor Quay, Assistant Postmaster General Clarkson, Col. Public vs. Parochial Schools.

At the second day's session of the National Educational Association at Nashville. Tenn., yesterday, the question of denominational schools was taken up and Bishop John J. Keane, of Washington, read a paper prepared by Cardinal Gibbons upon the question: "Should Americans educate their children in denominational schools?"

Bishop Keane followed on the same subject, taking the position that Christianity was the basis of all true government and should be inculcated during the period when children were attending school. If the in-fluence of the church was beneficial in the deep. family it was also in the school.

Mr. Edwin E. Mead, of Boston, followed and said that the arguments advanced by Cardinal Gibbons in the magazines in favo of the non interference of the State with the family in the matter of education was only a device to damage the State's authority in public opinion, to the end that the Roman Oatholic Church especially could take charge when possible. He said the plan of the Romish Church was to compel all Catholics to withdraw their children from the public schools to parcellal schools, where they would be taught the doctrines of the church. Such a system, he said, would not be tolerated in America. Bishop Keane replied and denied Mr. Mead's assertion that the Pope or the Roman Catholic Church was seeking temporal power and the control of government,
